

Imagined Trump Headlines That Seem Totally Plausible

by Baron von Funny

Just in the last week alone, our esteemed President has claimed that he turned down an offer to be Time Magazine's Man of the Year, made a reference to his nicknaming Elizabeth Warren "Pocahontas" during a ceremony honoring World War II Navajo Code Talkers, and called for NBC to investigate Joe Scarborough for the 2001 accidental death of an intern when Scarborough was a Florida congressman. The news can barely keep up with the insane headlines Trump generates, so why not try to anticipate it instead?
